Plymouth is Safeguarding Children

Plymouth Safeguarding Children Board brings together agencies working for families and children to promote best practice and ensure everyone is working together for the welfare of every child and young person in Plymouth. Working together, we are making Plymouth a safe city for children and young people. www.plymouthscb.org.uk

Safeguarding Children is still Everybody's Business

Help Keep all Children Safe

Plymouth Safeguarding Children Board brings together agencies working for families and children to promote best practice and ensure everyone is working together for the welfare of every child and young person in Plymouth. For training and professional development visit www.plymouthscb.org.uk or phone 01752 307535

Contact the Advice and Assessment Service of Plymouth City Council if you are worried about the welfare of a child to discuss your worries with a social worker: 01752 308600 or e-mail adviceandassessment@plymouth.gov.uk

ChildLine is here for you. If you are worried about anything, it could be something big or something small - don't bottle it up. It can really help if you talk to someone. If there is something on your mind, call Childline 0800 1111 www.childline.org.uk

It can be difficult to know when a child is being abused. There may be signs or your instinct may tell you something is wrong. You can receive help, advice and support from the NSPCC: 0808 800 5000 or go to www.nspcc.org.uk/helpline

South West Safeguarding and Child Protection Group

All carers and practitioners can find out about child protection procedures and promote practice which ensures the safety and wellbeing of all children by accessing the multi-agency procedures on line. They are intended to support the delivery of services to vulnerable children and young people and their families. Go to www.swcpp.org.uk

Believe in children

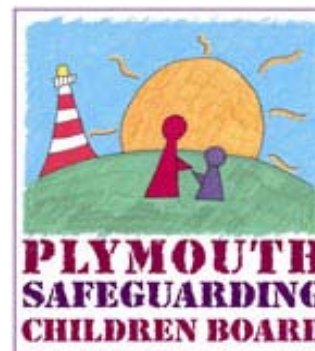

Barnados supports those who are struggling to overcome the disadvantages created by poverty, abuse, disability and discrimination. We work for social inclusion for all, regardless of life circumstances. www.barnardos.org.uk
